

THE FRANK VINDICATOR

VOL. I NO. 38

FRANK, ALBERTA, FRIDAY, JUNE 9, 1911

$2.00 YEARLY

SOUTHERN HOTEL

STEVE MANAHAN - PROPRIETOR

NEWLY OPENED. EVERYTHING UP-TO-DATE

WINES, SPIRITS, CIGARS, ETC.

—Only the Best Quality kept—

HOUSE STEAM-HEATED THROUGHOUT

BELLEVUE.

ALBERTA

The Rocky Mountain Sanatorium

at the

Famous Sulphur Springs,
Frank, Alberta.

Everything in this new and magnificent building is strictly first class. It is finished throughout in the most luxurious style, has also an elaborate bar, and the building throughout is fitted with every modern convenience. The building is located amidst some of the most majestic scenery in Western Canada.

Telephone in every room. Rates are moderate and the service is of the best.

THE
FRANK SULPHUR SPRINGS
are considered to be the
BEST IN CANADA

Bellevue Meat Market

P. HART, - Proprietor

FRESH MEATS FRESH MEATS

Mutton Pork Veal Fish
Poultry Eggs, Etc.

Fresh Beef from our own ranch
daily
Orders Receive Prompt Attention

Blairmore Hotel

D. C. DRAIN, Prop.
BLAIRMORE, ALTA.

☞☞

OUR BAR IS STOCKED WITH THE FINEST WINES
LIQUORS AND CIGARS

Good Rooms. Good Meals. Rates, $2.00 per day and up

The Passburg Hotel

T. H. Duncan, Prop.

Bright, Clean Wholesome Rooms

The Bar is well stocked with the Finest Wines,
Liquors and Imported and Domestic Cigars

Happenings in and Around Frank

J. Sergeant and L. M. Perkins were down from Coleman last week end.

G. M. and G. R. Annable, of Moose Jaw, spent last week end at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium.

W. C. Stirling, representing the Canadian Oil Co., came down from Calgary on Monday and left on Tuesday for Western points.

W. Simpson returned from Lethbridge on Tuesday evening where he had been attending an examination for first class engineer.

G. W. Robinson, Secretary of city council of Lethbridge, spent Saturday, Sunday and Monday at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium.

Miss M. de Gentile, M. Mettrier, consulting engineer of the West Canadian Collieries, and J. A. Paul arrived to France on Wednesday.

Rev. K. Kingston, who has been pastor of Knox Methodist church for the past six months, left on Wednesday morning for Monarch.

Ice cream and refreshments will be served on the veranda or the inside of the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium every Wednesday and Sunday.

H. D. McMillan, G. H. Van Sway, George Younghusband, E. C. Dreary and R. C. Alexander, all of Cowley, spent Sunday at the Rocky Mountain Sanatorium.

The Corpus Christi church is receiving a splendid coat of paint. The roof is being painted red and the remainder part of the exterior is being painted gray with white trimmings.

The Crows Nest Hardware company are installing two hot air furnaces in two dwellings which have recently been erected at Hill crest for the Hillcrest Coal & Coke Company.

The eight-year-old-boy of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilcox's who was missing on Tuesday, was found at Bellevue, late in the afternoon, where he had wandered. At one time it was feared that something very serious had happened him.

All interested in the proposed Gun Club to be formed at Blairmore are requested to meet at the office of THE BLAIRMORE ENTERPRISE at 8 o'clock on Monday night. The project is a feasible one and one which, if put through, will afford much amusement and pastime to the would-be marksman.

Rev. W. T. Young has arrived in town from Strathcona and will succeed Rev. K. Kingston as pastor of Knox Methodist church. Mr. Young was ordained at the conference recently held at Calgary and comes here with every prospect of successfully performing his clerical duties. We welcome him amongst us and we trust that his stay here will be as profitable as his predecessor's.

The following changes were made on the local train service on Sunday last: Trains going West have new numbers and will arrive as follows: Trans-continental, No. 513, at 7:58; Soo-Spokane-Portland, No. 11, at 9:45; local, No. 511, 18:40; new numbers have also been given the East bound trains, these will arrive as follows: Local, No. 512, at 11:52; Trans-continental, No. 514, 21:10; and the Soo-Spokane-Portland, No. 12, at 3:17.

The Greatest Genuine Bargains at SOMERTON BROS., sales you ever saw. Take this opportunity in securing Jewelry, Diamonds Watches, Clocks, Silverware and Cut Glass at sacrifice prices.

Farewell Party to Rev. K. Kingston

A farewell party was given in the Methodist church at Frank on Tuesday evening last in honor of Rev. K. Kingston, who had been pastor of the church during the past six months, which office he filled with great credit to himself and to the highest approval of the members and adherents of the church.

There were over one hundred present and shortly after eight o'clock everyone joined heartily in several interesting games. This was followed by a lengthy and well prepared programme consisting of recitations, vocal and instrumental selections, addresses etc. at the close of which the following address was read by Mrs. J. E. Wilcox while Mrs. R. McGowan handed to Rev. K. Kingston, in whose honor the large and appreciative gathering had met, a purse containing forty dollars in gold.

Frank, Alberta

June 8, 1911
Dear Mr. Kingston:—We are gathered here to-night to express our regret that you have been called to leave our midst.

During your short stay amongst us, we have come to look to you as a leader in things spiritual, to respect you as a man, to admire you as a christian and to look forward with pleasure to the messages you delivered to us from the pulpit.

Now that you are to leave us you will be missed from our church in every phase of its work. Your interest has not been in the public service only but you were always willing to give a helping hand in anything that would help spread the influence of the church and extend its borders, and thus your influence reached to those whom the public service could not reach.

As a sign of our appreciation on behalf of the congregation we present to you this purse of gold praying that as you go from us to your new field of labor every blessing and success may be yours and that in all your future work God may constantly increase your power for service amongst your fellowmen.

On behalf of the congregation
Mrs. J. E. Wilcox
Charles Palmer.

Mr. Kingston, in very fitting and well selected words, thanked those present for the honor done him, expressed his regret for having to leave Frank and wished those whom he was leaving the guidance and protection of a heavenly Father and an abundance of prosperity.

Refreshments were afterwards served when the large gathering partook freely of the delicacies so abundantly provided by the ladies. After the inner man was thoroughly satisfied the pleasant gathering dispersed, bidding the guest of the evening good-bye, success in his work in the new field and many, many years of usefulness in the service of the church.

Death of F. B. Jackson

The grim reaper Death put in his sickle at Frank, on Tuesday evening, and claimed as his victim Frank B. Jackson.

Mr. Jackson was formerly of Emerson, Man., but some time ago he came to Alberta in search of health. For some time he was engaged as druggist but left that vocation about a year ago to work as lineman on the telephone. Rheumatism, which had been causing him so much trouble for years, grew worse several days ago until he was taken to the hospital where in spite of the most careful and best treatment he exchanged worlds about 9 p.m. His mother arrived at Frank on Thursday morning. The body will be taken to Winnipeg for interment.

G. Passmore and Ben. MacDougall, who had been visiting Spokane, Seattle, Victoria and Vancouver for several weeks, returned to Blairmore on Saturday evening.

Happenings in and Around Bellevue

A new arrival from England, in the person of Mr. Cross, is at present residing with Mr. and Mrs. Halliworth. He is a bricklayer, and seems inclined to settle down in Blairmore shortly.

J. J. and Mrs. Walters returned last week from an extended visit to their homes in Ontario. The trip was very much enjoyed by both.

Isaac Burch and daughter of Wycliffe, B. C.; C. M. Carson, J. W. McLachlin and J. McQuirk, of Calgary, registered at the Southern during the week.

Lame shoulder is almost invariably caused by rheumatism of the muscles and yields quickly to the free application of Chamberlain's Liniment. This liniment is not only prompt and effectual, but in no way disagreeable to use. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Several families are leaving town, some going on homesteads, others on fruit farms in B. C. The latest to resolve on a move is Mr. Bridge, pitman at the prospect. He has already gone, but the family will not follow till later in the month.

The lure of the South is strong upon some people of the town. The latest to be caught by the desire are J. Brownrigg and W. Foster. They leave this week and for Peru, to work under Charles Knudsen, who went there in December last. Everybody wishes them good luck in their venture.

During the week a caye-in took place at the mine. The hole is to the surface and about 80 feet square. People are visiting the scene from all quarters, while the officials of the mine say that the hole is worth $10,000 to them. The hole is in the reputed worst part of the mine and may settle the question of safety for years.

If you are not satisfied after using Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, you can have your money back. The tablets cleanse and invigorate the stomach, improve the digestion, regulate the bowels. Give them a trial and get well. Sold by dealers everywhere.

It is understood that hard times have caused the severance of business relations between Burns Barrett and Lang and their hardware storekeeper, Wm. Chappell, Jr. Also that T. Barrett is going into the Peace River country prospecting. We are not informed what is the object of search. Some say gold; others say he needs a treasure of the human kind. He might get both.

The Coleman football team visited Bellevue on Saturday, where a lively game was played against the local team. The game throughout was well contested and the score of 5-4 in favor of Bellevue, bespeaks that the Bellevue boys had to work for it.

Rev. T. D. Jones, who has been transferred by the Alberta stationing committee to Hardisty, preaches his farewell sermon on Sunday evening next. A full house is expected to show their appreciation of the good work and duties performed by Mr. Jones during his long stay in Bellevue.

The wedding service on Monday afternoon at the Methodist Church attracted quite a lot of attention. The contracting parties, Henry Blake and Miss E. A. Williams, were dressed plainly and neatly, but the person of our friend 'Cockey' was decorated with silk hat and other attractive features. Quantities of rice were showered on the bride and groom as they came out of church, and with them went best wishes for a happy future.

The report of the Methodist Church for the year was read to a good congregation a few days ago. Considering the conditions that have prevailed since December 1st, the report shows a steady advance of the people to the church. The following subscriptions were reported to the general fund for the support of the ministry, etc.: R. Connolly, $15; M. Alsopp, $5; Mr. Callan, $10; Mrs. E. W. Christie, $12.50; E. W. Christie, $11.50; W. H. Chappell, Jr., $7.75; J. H. Oliphant, $5.50; A. Halliworth, $10; Mrs. A. Halliworth, $7.35; J. Atkinson, $16.10; G. Christie, $11.50; C. Zimmerman, $28; Mrs. Humble, $13.50; J. Ray-

Passburg Shoeing Forge

Tye & Heywood, - Props.

Experienced in all branches of the trade

FIRST-CLASS WORK
GUARANTEED

No order too large
Or none too small

Passburg, Alta.

J. WHILLER

CONTRACTOR & BUILDER

Estimates given on all kinds of work.

Lumber for sale. Houses to rent.

Prompt Attention and Good Workmanship Guaranteed.

J. WHILLER
Frank, - Alta.

Empire Restaurant

Serves as good meals as any place in the Pass at all hours, on short notice and at moderate prices.

Frank, Alberta

For $12.75; Mrs. Macaulay, $7; Loose plate contributions $190.45. Grand total, $855.00. The expenditures were as follows:
To Rev. T. D. Jones, on salary, $300
Concessional funds, 23
Circuit incidentals, 32

Total Expenditures $355.00
Needless to say, these subscriptions would have been twice as high had the disaster not taken place.

The Ladies Aid reported having raised the splendid sum of $413 during the financial year, most of which has been used to reduce the church debt and to purchase furniture for the parsonage.

A football match took place at Passburg yesterday between the Passburg team and Bellevue scrub teams. The scrubs were A. Padgett, goal; J. Clark and Al Padgett, backs; A. Watson, W. Rochester and J. Ford, half-backs; Radford Thompson, F. Chappell, W. Hampson and D. Hutton, forwards; also reserves—J. Oliphant, A. Amos, R. Dugdale, H. Varley, A. Tristan was lineman.

Rev. T. D. Jones, who has labored in Bellevue for the past couple of years, has been transferred by the stationing committee of the Alberta Methodist Conference to Hardisty, a point on the C. P. R. line between Wetaskiwin and Saskatoon. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Jones are sorry at their leaving Bellevue, and the very best wishes of his congregation and co-workers, as well as citizens generally, go with them to their new field.

"It cured me," or "It saved the life of my child," are the expressions you hear every day about Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. This is true the world over where this valuable remedy has been introduced. No other medicine in use for diarrhoea or bowel complaints has received such general approval. The secret of the success of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is that it cures. Sold by dealers everywhere.

A Commonplace Occurrence

It Changed the Course of Two Lives

By HUDSON C. EASTON

Copyright by American Press Association, 1912

Walking on an avenue in Washington I met a lady whose appearance attracted me. She suddenly stopped, looked down and blushed to the roots of her hair. Her skirt had become unbuttoned at the waist.

"Can I do anything for you?" I asked.

She looked wildly about her for a place and finally caught one. "Have you a pin or a bit of string in your pocket?" she asked.

I went through every pocket and at last found a piece of corn colored ribbon that had bound together a package of cigars. I handed it to her with an expression which asked the question, "Will that do?"

She seized it, at the same time thanking me with a nod which plainly meant, "Proceed on your way."

If I had not happened to have that piece of cheap ribbon in my pocket, if that lady's skirt had not become unbuttoned at the exact moment I passed her, I would now be surrounded by an entirely different environment.

While I was sufficiently impressed with the young lady's appearance, her face was one that I would not easily forget—the incident soon passed out of my mind. Several months passed. One day I made a business trip to Philadelphia and on my return was sitting in a train waiting for it to move out of the station. Hurrying along outside was the girl I had assisted in my pocket, and on her carriage was a bit of corn colored ribbon tied in a bowknot. At that moment the train began to roll slowly on its wheels.

Two conflicting emotions stirred me—first, I inferred that the girl in meeting me had met her fate and was about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

about to meet her fate and was

"Calkins," I said fiercely, "you will remember to what paper and when you saw that ad. or die."

"Then my doom is sealed," laughed Calkins, "for I can remember neither."

"Could there be anything more tantalizing—a lovely woman trying to find me, I trying to find her, and all our efforts availing?"

"Oh, why have I not read all the papers?" I cried, "in all the papers every day?"

"Because you couldn't have done anything else," replied Calkins, "and, not having time to make a living, you would have starved to death."

"Can't you suggest something?"

"Yes, forget all about it. A woman would advertise for a life, but probably an advertisement anyway."

"If you say that again I'll strangle you."

"Truth crushed in the throat would rise again."

"She is pure as an angel. Come, old man, tell me some way to find her."

"I give it up."

Several weeks passed in misery for me, when in a Philadelphia newspaper I read of the trial of a Miss Octavia Merton, which was stating that it had taken place in the city.

She was accused of having stolen some valuable gems while one of a house party at a lady's country seat. What was my astonishment to see in a description of Miss Merton the following words:

In her carriage she wore a bow of orange or corn colored ribbon. I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

I sprang to my feet. I had found my love. But, alas, Calkins was right. I was an impostor.

PLAYING A WITNESS.

Methods of Two Famous Cross Examiners of the Irish Bar.

Two famous cross-examiners at the Irish bar, says Francis L. Williams in "The Art of Cross Examination," were Sergeant Sullivan, afterward master of the rolls in Ireland, and Sergeant Armstrong, Harry O'Brien in his "Life of Lord Alton," describe their methods with pertinent wit.

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

The big-serious Armstrong had more humor and more power, but less dexterity and resource. His great weapon was ridicule. He laughed at the witness, and made him laugh. The witness got confused and lost his temper, and then Armstrong pounced upon him like a champion in the ring."

"Sullivan," he says, "approached the witness quite in a friendly way, intended to be an impartial inquirer seeking information, innocent of any prejudice as to what the witness said, appeared even grateful for the additional light thrown on the case."

"All, indeed! Well, as you have said so much perhaps you can help us a little further. Well, really, my lord, this is a very intelligent man."

"He played the witness with caution and skill, drawing him steadily on, keeping him completely in the dark about the real point of attack, the 'little word' which was the key to the case in the witness's mind and then fired at him and shook him as a ferrier would a rat."

Good form

Duties of a Parlor Maid.

A parlor maid is expected to take charge of the parlors and dining room and lower halls of a house only. There is apt to be a butler or a waitress in the establishments where a parlor maid is kept, so the duties of waiting on the table do not come within her province.

She is always neatly clad in the morning in a plain light dress, with an apron with shoulder straps, and bib and wears a cap. In the afternoon she wears a black dress with apron, collar, cuffs and cap. After she rises in the morning she dusts the parlors, hall and all the rooms on the lower floor. When she has eaten breakfast she begins the regular work, which is planned a little differently for each household.

On one morning she sweeps the parlor on another the library, and so on during the week. In the afternoon the maid must be ready to open the front door if the butler is dressing or coming with some afternoon work. She may bring in afternoon tea, and in a family where there are children she very often gets their supper and lays them in their own dining room or at their special table.

If there is a governess in the family it is the duty of the parlor maid to see that her meals are properly served. In a small establishment a parlor maid is usually a waitress also. She then has charge of the dining room and the kitchen also. She has charge of the house, but does nothing upstairs. She opens the front door and is expected to be always neatly dressed and immaculate, so she has her laundry work done for her and has no heavy rough work to do. She is not expected to wash windows or clean the sidewalks and front steps.

Dressing by System.

One of the best dressed women in Paris has a rule that she follows in choosing her clothes which has made her wardrobe the success that it is. Perhaps some girl who is planning her spring outfit may profit by her suggestion.

Says the clever Frenchwoman: "I buy only four new gowns a year. I get one in the spring, one in the summer, another in the autumn and the last in the winter. In these gowns, too, I specialize. I let each represent a different season."

One year I will get a gown tailored suit, an evening dress, a light negligee, perhaps, and so on. Another year I will choose a morning gown, an afternoon frock, a dinner dress, and, of course, if necessary, have some remodeling done to last year's wardrobe. In this way I have a good toilet for every occasion."

"Then I spend the rest of my allowance on the smartest and best neckwear, veils, gloves, stockings and other little things that I can afford. These dress of velvet, if they are dainty and smart, count more for effect in the long run than the dresses without them. If you can't have both get plain or conservative suits and dresses and add chic and vary their monotony with little things. Hats, shoes, neck dresses and gloves have a lot to do with the smartness of one's appearance. An expensive suit with the wrong hat doesn't look half so well as a less costly suit with the right hat."

When Husband Comes.

Great him with a smile when he comes home tired out from his day's work.

Kiss and pet him at other times than when you desire a new dress or more pin money.

Give him more than one look in the closet and the smallest drawer in the dresser for his very own.

Don't knock his stories just because he has practiced them on you before he brings them on company.

Refrain from hiding his belongings. Leave them in the place where he expects to find them.

Sympathize with him when things have gone wrong all day and he comes home blue.

Don't tell him how becomingly Mrs. B. is gowned when he is striving in every way he knows how to keep his family and his credit.

If he scrapes clear ashes on the floor don't act as though he has committed a mortal sin. They keep the mouths out of the carpet.

Matrimonial Nuisances.

It results.

It makes one blush.

What is the matter with some women?

The safety of one's neighbor is surely sacred.

One may risk one's own life if one desires to.

But only those of the lower orders would risk hurting others.

Usually it happens that those who thus offend are criminally thoughtless and selfish.

Occasionally a woman whose whole life is devoted to kind and generous acts thus thoughtlessly errs.

Hatpins are easily cut of and sharp-pointed, and the ends of the right length. Too long points are as dangerous as they are ugly.

As for those protruding points, which are a criminal nuisance, they are as dangerous as a rattlesnake's tail, and cost with a skin of walking length.

THE ROAD TO BALTIMORE.

It Was Over Floating Bridges in the Old Old Days.

The road to Baltimore is over the lowest of three floating bridges which have been thrown across the Susquehanna river in the neighborhood of Philadelphia. The view on passing this river, which is about 250 yards wide, is beautiful. The tides on each side are high and for many miles above afford the most delightful situations of villas. A very elegant one, laid out in English taste, is seen on passing the river just above the bridge. Adjoining it are public gardens and a house of entertainment with several good rooms, to which the citizens of Philadelphia resort in great numbers during the summer seasons.

The floating bridges are formed of large trees, which are placed in the water transversely and are chained together. Beams are then laid lengthwise upon these and the whole boarded over, under the way convenient for passengers. On each side there is a railing. When very heavy carriages go across these bridges they sink a few inches into the water, but the passage is by no means dangerous. They are kept in an even direction across the river by means of cables and pulleys at the different points and are also strongly secured on both shores. Over that part of the river where the channel lies they are so constructed that a piece can be removed to allow vessels to pass through.

From "America Through the States of North America," by Isaac Weld, Jr. 1795.

At last, when the steamer was about to sail, the captain was informed that he had to pay a duty for putting on board a new article—namely, the "scraped" or broken propeller.

The captain protested and offered to drop it into the sea, but the officials would not listen. They seized the ship and demanded payment. The captain declined to ease the tension by the customary bribe and complained to the British foreign office.

The duty was returned, but the captain was warned to be very careful about everything, and for several voyages nothing occurred. Several months later some slight inaccuracy in the ship's papers and the declaration of cargo gave the excellent chance, and the result was not allowed to leave until a heavy fine, corresponding to the original propeller duty, was paid.

Mount Etna.

Mount Etna is one of the great volcanoes of the earth. It is great in size, great in activity, great in beauty. Its size it would cover the entire metropolitan district of New York and the surrounding counties. Its height is 11,000 feet above sea level. As to its power, one of these eruptions some centuries ago killed 80,000 people. It is probably more than 2,000 years as ever done in all its existence as a volcano, not excepting the great eruption of 70 A. D., which destroyed the cities of Herculaneum and Pompeii. As to its beauty, it is very difficult to describe. It is teeming with life, animal and vegetable, and is snow covered one-half the year. The other half is bare to its very summit—Christian Herald.

The Gate to Tibet.

Just outside Lhasa is the stone bridge which is called "the gate to Tibet." Tachienlu is a narrow little city which had to conform its shape to the great bulk of the mountain above it. There is hardly foot of level ground within the walls. It is the great emporium of trade between China and Tibet, the Chinese exchange tea for musk and gold. Just many red frocked lamas are to be seen about the city, most of whom live in large lamaseries outside the walls. On the flat roofs of the houses lamas in sumptuous prayer flags, giving to the winds the universal Tibetan hymn of praise.

Berlin's Big Restaurant.

Imagine a restaurant costing $10,000,000. Berlin has such a place. It accommodates more than 4,000 persons at one time, giving employment to 1,600 persons, of whom eighty-five are cooks. As too expensive it is possible to get a good dinner for 30 cents and as any price from that up—Chicago Post.

He Was Polite.

He—The great trouble with Gable is he talks too much. She—That's strange. When he's been with me he's scarcely said a word. He—Oh, he's too much of a gentleman to interrupt.—Boston Transcript.

A Bad Prospect.

"They say there's no foot like an old foot."

"That makes me shudder for the future. I've already been all the other kind"—Kansas City Journal.

Men who are so afraid of doing foolish things that they lack the courage to attempt what some will never do.

Change Color.

Now Helen took the camera up, in Washington's new town. Was it used to make a new shot? And what made Helen shoot?

—New York Times.

FROM THE EMERALD ISLE

Irish Collections Come to Teach Us How to Make Lace and Rug.

Here are four pretty Irish collections who have come to America to teach us how to make lace and rug, how to weave rugs and to do other useful things that have been done in the Emerald Isle for ages. They will visit all the large cities in the country and show specimens of their handiwork both completed and in the process of making.

Miss Marion J. O'Brien is in charge of the party, her companions being Catherine Ellen Nogue, Bridget O'Connell and Bridget McLaughlin. Only one of the girls expressed any desire to vote, and she decided that she was a suffragette. "I don't believe the women would make a worse mess of politics than the men have," explained Catherine Nogue, who is a skilled teacher and who also plans to teach the girls to make lace and rug.

The girls came to America under the auspices of the Gaelic league. It is hoped that through the exhibition of the lace, rug and embroidery Irish Americans may be stimulated to help revive the Celtic arts on this side of the water.

"It would be no much better for our arts to make these beautiful things than to wear out their young lives over machines in drug factories," explained one of the representatives of the league.

Frock Trimmed With Beads.

It is evident that this is one of the very newest frocks for the coming season for the reason that the waist is a one piece affair embroidered in an artistic manner with porcelain beads. The skirt, a shallow pleated model, has a deep hem of Russian lace and is also trimmed with beads. Black velvet is used to finish the gown at the neck and belt.

Do You Get Your "Beauty" Sleep?

As a race we sleep too little. An infant's life is nearly all sleep. Gradually as the child grows older the hours of sleep are reduced to half the life, or about eight hours.

Youth until the age of twenty is reached requires fully ten hours' sleep. Our power to work is intimately related to our ability to sleep, and there is no more reliable indication of soundness than the capacity to sleep naturally, and the more we sleep and wake the waking life the deeper the sleep.

Change Color.

Now Helen took the camera up, in Washington's new town. Was it used to make a new shot? And what made Helen shoot?

—New York Times.

Patronizing Follows Advertising Persistent

News! News!

A few interested persons have found out the truth of the inner workings of The BLAIRMORE CASH STORES. After guessing at our sales, expenses and interest on investment, they herald the fact to the people of the Pass that we are NOT MAKING MONEY. We have been trying to advertise this fact for four months. We are satisfied with a workman's wage, expenses and interest on investment. The other man is trying to take from you working men wages, interest, and a good "stake" besides. When you hear of your neighbor owing money to your grocer, REMEMBER! you are helping to carry this debt. Therefore, deal at—

THE CASH STORE

Blairmore Liquor Store

THE LIQUOR STORE OF QUALITY

CHINESE MEN

hail the superiority of our WINES and WHISKEYS and say that even

Sam Suay

does not take the place of our WINES & WHISKEYS as a wholesome and nutritious beverage

Phone Your Orders To No. 45 and You Can Depend on Prompt Delivery.

M. Rosse

Proprietor

Open 8 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturdays 9.30 p.m.

Phone 26.

C. HISCOCKS & Co.

The Exclusive Grocers

Fresh each Thursday

Tomatoes Lettuce
Cabbage Turnips
Parsnips Carrots
FINE STOCK. TRY SOME

From now on our store closes at 1 p.m. Wednesdays

Don't Forget The Place:---

C. Hiscocks & Co.

Between 8th and 9th Avenues
Victoria Street

BLAIRMORE, - ALBERTA

Calgary Industrial EXHIBITION

CALGARY, ALBERTA

JUNE 30TH TO JULY 7TH, 1911

$29,000 in Prizes and Purses

Freight paid on all Exhibits originating in Alberta.

The Best Special Feature ever seen in Canada west of Toronto, including Strobel's Aeroplane, Brennan's Mono-Rail Car, Moving Pictures of the Coronation, Grand Display of Fireworks.

Made by the 10th Rifle Regimental Band, and other high-class features. Free-Mutual machines to be used for the first time in Western Canada at the Exhibition rates.

Reduced Passenger Rates. Entries close June 15th.

Sheriff I.S.G. VAN WART, President.
E. J. DEWEY and COL. JAS. WALKER, Vice-Presidents

Prize Lists and other information from
E. L. RICHARDSON, Manager — Victoria Park, Calgary

BRISCO'S THE STORE FOR MEN

Victoria Street

BRISCO'S

Blairmore, Alta.

It Pays to trade at Brisco's!

We can show a Big Range of Underwear

BALBRIGGAN—A good two-thread garment, @ 50c. per garment.

MERINO—Four-thread knit, heavy Summer weight, 75c. per garment.

LISLE THREAD, Zimmer knit, in Pink or Blue, @ $1.00 per garment.

CASHMERE—Nise Light Wool, Zimmer knit, @ $1.00 per garment.

WOOL—Sovereign Brand, medium weight, @ $1.25 per garment.

WOOL—Penman's No. 95, absolutely Wool, @ $1.50 per garment.

WOOL—Robin Hood pure wool, very light weight, $1.50 per gar.

A MEETING OF BOARD OF TRADE

A meeting of the Blairmore Board of Trade was held in Budd's hall on Monday evening last. There were present: R. W. Coulthard, president; T. B. George, secretary-treasurer; T. Frey, L. Dutil, H. E. Lyon, J. G. Smith, C. Hiscock, J. D. S. Barrett, D. A. Sinclair and R. M. Brisco.

W. L. Shera was elected a member of the board.

H. E. Lyon and D. A. Sinclair, a committee appointed at last meeting to assist in organizing a town band, reported that a band which had been organized several weeks ago was doing good work and had many prominent players, and they (the committee) did not think it advisable to organize another but that the Board should assist the one already organized.

Communications were read from Macleod Business Men's Protective Association and from a similar institution at Lethbridge, and were handed over to R. M. Brisco and J. D. S. Smith as per motion by T. B. George and D. A. Sinclair, to be further dealt with at the next regular meeting.

A communication from the Pincher Creek Game Protective Association was read and was handed to T. B. George and W. L. Shera who promised the Board to take steps towards organizing a game protective association here, the same to work in harmony with the Pincher Creek and the other such associations.

Blairmore Summer School Aug. 8th--13th

As stated in this paper several weeks ago, the use of a beautiful site a little over a mile from Blairmore has been granted the Alberta Sunday School Association by the West Canadian Collieries, for the summer school. Of the six summer schools to be held this summer under the auspices of the Alberta Sunday School Association, this should prove one of the most popular.

The management has procured a complete camping outfit, consisting of tents, chairs, beds, stoves, gasoline lighting system etc., and they are prepared to make all attending the summer school most comfortable.

The object of this summer school is to help train workers for Sunday school and Young Peoples' societies. All ministers, Sunday school superintendents, teachers and officers, and all others interested in any way in religious work are heartily invited to attend. Registration fee of $1.00 which procures sleeping accommodation for full time should be sent to H. G. Bigelow, Blairmore.

Porfirio Diaz, president of Mexico for thirty years, has resigned and has left his country for Spain.

Big Athletic Circus Showing at Blairmore

The great Northwest Amusement Co. of Portland, Ore., which will be at Blairmore for three whole days this week, including Thursday, Friday and Saturday, are the greatest entertainers that have ever visited these parts. Some of the best acrobats that the world has ever seen will perform the most daring and hair-raising feats that have ever been witnessed by the people of this district.

Beard & Malcolm Receive Big Contract.

W. Beard and W. A. Malcolm have just secured a contract with the McGinnis Lumber Company, of Crows Nest, for the cutting of logs sufficient to make ten million feet of lumber.

The McGinnis Lumber Co. has only recently commenced operations. It has nine sections of land about two miles west of Crows Nest on which there is sufficient timber to make 90,000,000 feet of lumber.

Contractors Beard and Malcolm intend to cut about 50,000 feet per day and expect to have their work completed in about seven months time.

The W. C. T. U.

The Blairmore branch of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union gave an enjoyable entertainment and social in the Central Baptist church on Monday evening last. The church was crowded and the evening was very pleasantly spent by all present. Rev. J. F. Hunter, the pastor of the church, occupied the chair and presided over the meeting in a very able manner.

The programme consisted of: Addresses by the chairman, Rev. G. H. Wycherley, Rev. A. S. Todd and Rev. W. T. Young; solos by Mrs. J. S. Murray, Mr. Edgeley (two), Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Lee; duet by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Lee; recitations by Miss Paul, and J. D. S. Barrett; dialogue by Misses G. Roy and Eastman and reading by Mrs. Howe. After the foregoing items on the programme were variably disposed of, a large supply of dainty and delectable things were freely partaken of and the inner men satisfied. A collection was taken up and the amount of $17.45 was realized. After this was done the gathering rose and sang "God Save the King." The meeting closed by many singing the pledge and promising to abstain from the use of all intoxicating liquors, wine or cider, as a beverage.

The good ladies of the W. C. T. U. are to be congratulated on making such big progress with their organization since its recent inception in Blairmore. The splendid work so earnestly and consistently carried on by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is becoming more and more evident.

$29,000 are offered in prizes and purses at the forthcoming Calgary Industrial Exhibition to be held at Calgary June 30th to July 7th, and in addition to this, freight transportation is paid by the Exhibition Co. on all exhibits originating in Alberta. In addition to a splendid display of live stock and industrial exhibits, the best program of attractions ever seen in Canada west of Toronto has been provided, and it is expected that fully one hundred thousand visitors will attend the exhibition. Almost everyone will be interested in the daily flights of Strobel's aeroplane, and the demonstrations of the Mono-Rail car, to say nothing of the fireworks, music and other attractions which are the best that money can secure.

Prize lists can be had on application to the manager, E. L. Richardson, Victoria Park, Calgary, and entries close on June 15.

BUILDING SPUR TO BRICK WORKS

The Blairmore Brick Works expect to have the spur line from the C. P. R. to their property completed about the early part of next week. W. Beard and W. A. Malcolm, the successful contractors for the grading in connection with the laying of this spur for the Brick Company, completed their work on Monday. The ties are on the ground and the C. P. R. have already got a number of men engaged in laying the rails and in building a bridge across Lyon creek.

The spur will be over 1000 feet long and will connect with the main line near the tipple of the West Canadian Collieries. It will pass along near the large kilns of the Blairmore Brick Works to the west end of the main building of the Blairmore Brewing & Malting Company.

This will be a mighty big convenience to the brick company and will also mean a great saving in shipping their product, the demand for which is continually increasing. When one considers that about $2 per thousand will be saved on the shipping expenses and that the daily output is 40,000 bricks, it is very plain that the monthly saving will be quite large for a new enterprise.

A Continuation of Victoria Street

As many of our readers know, the West Canadian Collieries have recently completed a street through their property at the west end of Blairmore. This street, which is on the north side of the government right-of-way, is eight feet in width and is a continuation of Victoria street. This thoroughfare is in splendid condition, is a decided improvement on the old government road, and, in fact, is as good as any street in The Pass.

The following is a copy of a document which has just been forwarded to the provincial government by the Blairmore village council:

We, the undersigned councillors of the village of Blairmore, approve of the new extension to Victoria Avenue, as shown in the plan of the sub-division of the West Canadian Collieries in the Village.

We consider this road to be more advantageous to the public than the present government right-of-way, and would therefore, recommend that the government approve of same.

The Company has put this new road in good condition, and it is now being used almost entirely by the public. Besides this the main water pipe line for the Village is already laid along this new road, and it would work considerable hardship upon the Village, if the pipe line had to be taken up and placed elsewhere.

The count of heads all over Canada started early on Thursday morning, June 1st. The count will probably give Canada a population of eight millions or thereabouts. In 1901 the census showed 5,371,315.

Alberta

Trading Co.

TELEPHONE 147

Headquarters For

High-Class

Groceries

Fresh Fruit

& Vegetables

This week we will have

Fresh Strawberries
Cherries Pineapples
Oranges Bananas
Lemons Rhubarb
Green Onions Cucumbers
R-dishes Lettuce
"Wild Rose" Creamery Butter,
—our price, 3 lbs for $1.00—

If not satisfied, your money back.

WATCH OUR WINDOW EACH WEEK

ALBERTA TRADING CO.

The Store That Pleases—

Gales & Hamel

Blairmore, - Alta

W. A. Beebe

Real Estate and Insurance

Broker in Mines and Mining Stocks

Houses for sale or rent and rents collected.

Issuer of Marriage Licenses and Notary Public

VICTORIA STREET
Blairmore, Alta.

MRS. H. GEBO

Millinery Parlors

Hats Trimmed and Re-Modelled

Next the Cash Store

Victoria Street

Blairmore, Alta.

McKenzie & Jackson

Barbers, Notaries, Etc.
Strathers Block
MALCOLM MCKENZIE LESLIE A. JACKSON
Macleod PHONE 41 Alberta

NURSING

MATERNITY NURSING

Apply
Mrs. J. Drawer E.
BLAIRMORE, - ALBERTA

NOTICE

All property owners and householders desiring to receive water from the Village are requested to make application immediately to

T. FRAYER

Chairman Village Council.
Blairmore, Alta., June 6, 1911

Ireland's population has decreased by 76,824 since the last census was taken ten years ago.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is sold on a guarantee that if you are not satisfied after using two-thirds of a bottle according to directions, your money will be refunded. It is up to you to try. Sold by dealers everywhere.